We are pleased to announce the launching of the official website of the Department, marking a significant milestone in completing its transition to a fully operational agency devoted to facilitating overseas employment and promoting the welfare of all OFWs:

New DMW Website

A new and fresh webpage design is presented to make surfing for overseas employment more interesting yet simpler and convenient to use. The website provides a platform for OFWs to access all front-end services of the Department, wherever they may be. With this platform, the Department shall now focus on further improving current systems to be more user friendly and reliable than before.

In addition, the design is consistent with the prescriptions of the Department of Information and Communications Technology and the ICT Office of the Department of Science and Technology's policies on Government Website Template (GWT).
