RESOLUTION

In the Resolution dated 26 February 2024¹, this Court submitted the case anew for decision, after granting accused Agerico L. Banzon's (accused's) request for reconsideration² to admit his belatedly filed Appellee's Brief dated 03 November 2023³, as part of the case records.

Thereafter, upon a thorough examination of the records transmitted by the Regional Trial Court (RTC) Branch 52-Puerto Princesa City (court a quo), this Court discovered that accused had filed a separate Notice of Appeal dated 22 September 2022⁴, which the court a quo approved in its Order dated 07 October 2022.⁵ However, instead of transmitting the appeal to the Court of Tax Appeals (CTA), the said Order directed that “the entire records of these cases and the transcripts of stenographic notes of the proceedings be transmitted to the Court of Appeals”.

Perhaps due to the erroneous designation of the appellate court, the RTC Records were not promptly transmitted to the CTA’s Second Division⁶, where this case was initially raffled before being transferred to the First Division⁷ following the reorganization of the CTA’s three (3) divisions, and the court a quo’s Branch Clerk of Court or Officer-in-Charge (OIC) had to show cause why no sanction should be imposed for noncompliance with the Court’s directive.

Despite the eventual transmittal of the RTC Records, the Second Division remained unaware that accused had filed a separate Notice of Appeal. This was because only the Notice of Appeal dated 07 October 2022⁸, which was filed via registered mail by plaintiff People of the Philippines (plaintiff) on 10 October 2022, was received by the Court on 13 October 2022, and subsequently noted in its Resolution dated 10 November 2022⁹ (which also included the first directive to the court a quo to certify and elevate all case records in its possession).

Considering that only plaintiff’s Notice of Appeal dated 07 October 2022 was noted and the court a quo failed to transmit to this Court accused’s Notice of Appeal dated 22 September 2022¹⁰, along with the Order dated 07 October 2022¹¹, within thirty (30) days from the perfection of the appeal, as required under Section 12¹², Rule 15 Accused, through his counsel, received the assailed Order on 15 September 2022. Counting fifteen (15) days therefrom, accused had until 30 September 2022 within which to file an appeal. Since court a quo received accused's Notice of Appeal on 23 September 2022, it was filed within the prescribed period and is therefore considered timely.

It is noted that the parties were previously required to submit briefs only concerning plaintiff's appeal. In view of accused's separate appeal, and to streamline the proceedings and prevent further delay, both plaintiff and accused are hereby DIRECTED to file a Manifestation within five (5) days from receipt hereof, stating whether they will adopt their previously filed briefs in plaintiff's appeal as their respective briefs for accused's appeal.

Should either party opt not to adopt their previously filed briefs, they are GRANTED a period of ten (10) days to submit either a supplemental or an entirely new brief.

Besides the oversight with respect to accused's timely appeal, this Court also notes that plaintiff's Notice of Appeal dated 07 October 2022¹⁶ appears to have been filed out of time.

Contrary to plaintiff's bare allegation that it received the court a quo's assailed Order on 23 September 2022¹⁷, a review of court a quo's assailed Order¹⁸, which forms part of the RTC records, reveals that plaintiff, through the Office of the City Prosecution and the Bureau of Internal Revenue (BIR), actually received it on 09 September 2022, and 16 September 2022, respectively—as indicated in writing under the "Copy Furnished" portion. Counting fifteen (15) days from these dates, plaintiff had until 03 October 2022 (as 01 October 2022 fell on a Saturday), at the latest (based on the later receiving date) to file an appeal. However, plaintiff's Notice of Appeal was filed via registered mail with court a quo only on 10 October 2022, as evidenced by the Registry Receipt.¹⁹ Since this was beyond the prescribed appeal period, plaintiff's appeal must be deemed untimely and should therefore be dismissed for being filed out of time.

In any case, accused's appeal, which challenges his conviction, was duly perfected within the 15-day reglementary period. As such, despite the dismissal of plaintiff's appeal, the civil aspect of the case may still be resolved in line with this Court's authority to conduct an appellate review of the propriety of the court a quo's judgment of conviction. It is well established that an appeal in a criminal case opens the entire case for review, including both its criminal and civil aspects.²⁰

Moreover, the RTC Records do not show that the court a quo issued an order granting or recognizing plaintiff's appeal. The absence of such an order necessarily implies that plaintiff's mode of appeal had not been approved by court a quo, further reinforcing the conclusion that plaintiff's appeal was procedurally infirm.

WHEREFORE, premises considered, accused Agerico L. Banzon's Notice of Appeal, filed on 23 September 2022, is NOTED, while plaintiff People of the Philippines' Notice of Appeal, filed via registered mail on 10 October 2022, is hereby DISMISSED for being filed out of time.

Given the dismissal of plaintiff's belated appeal and in light of accused's timely (though previously overlooked) appeal, the parties are DIRECTED to file a Manifestation within five (5) days from receipt hereof, stating whether they will adopt their previously filed briefs in plaintiff's appeal as their respective briefs for accused's appeal.

Should either party opt not to adopt their previously filed briefs, they are GRANTED a period of ten (10) days to submit either a supplemental or an entirely new brief.

The Office of the Clerk of Court is hereby DIRECTED to assign a separate docket number for accused's appeal.

Accordingly, once the parties have complied with the Court's directives in this Resolution, the case shall be SUBMITTED ANEW for decision.²¹ Meanwhile, the Resolution dated 26 February 2024, insofar as it submitted the case for decision, is deemed superseded.

²¹ Article VIII, Section 15(2) of the 1987 Constitution, in relation to Rule 14, Section 1 (par. 1) of the Revised Rules of the Court of Tax Appeals, states that "[a] case or matter shall be deemed submitted for decision or resolution upon the filing of the last pleading, brief, or memorandum required by the Rules of Court or by the court itself."
